Bookings and Rentals

How do I avoid double bookings for a holiday home?

The shop takes care of it: every night is counted, and a night that is booked is no longer offered.

How it works

- you enter the “Units for rent”: 1 for a holiday home, 3 if you have three identical rooms;
- for each day, the shop counts what is already booked; the customer can only book if a unit is free for the whole period;
- a night put in the basket is held for 30 minutes, then checked again at checkout;
- for rentals by the night, the departure day stays free: a guest can arrive the day the previous one leaves.

Your closed days

Works, holidays, nights already let elsewhere? Add them under “Closures”: neither arrival nor departure can fall on a closed day.

Do you also rent on a platform?

The shop does not sync with rental platforms’ calendars. As soon as a night is let elsewhere, close it in your shop; and the other way round, block on the platform the nights booked with you. The more your guests book direct, the fewer calendars you have to keep.

Seeing occupancy

“Occupancy over the next 14 days” on the item’s page, and the orders “Schedule” week by week, show who arrives and when.
