Test and Production Environments

What is the difference between the test and production environments?

123ventes gives you two environments.

The test environment

This is the creation environment, the one your back office works on. It is only accessible with your administrator account. It contains the design, but also test orders and test customers; payments there are in test mode.

The production environment

This is the shop your customers see: it is public and is not edited directly. Real orders and real customers are recorded there.

Moving from one to the other

Once you are happy, publish your work with the “Publish” button: catalogue, texts, customisation and options, together or separately.
